

Digital Natives to Responsible Digital Citizens: Cultivating Digital Citizenship among Youth

Lack of privacy and permanence of speech is a fact of our digital world, but often a difficult reality for youth to understand. Empowering youth with the tools and moral code to move well through the digital world is imperative. Their conduct in social media and online postings has the ability to impact acceptance into schools and future employment. Cyber bullying and harassment can cause significant harm. Youth can be ethical and responsible digital citizens – this workshop will address:

- the elements of digital citizenship
- digital ethics and etiquette
- current social media trends
- digital rights and responsibilities
- the impact of digital speech on health and wellness
- digital citizenship curriculums
